Care Sheet – Dumeril's Boa

Scientific Name

Acrantophis dumerili

Cites

CITES Appendix I, which means that it is threatened with extinction and CITES prohibits international trade except when the purpose of the import is not commercial, for example for scientific research. Requires the appropriate paperwork and micro chipping.

Range

South West of Madagascar and Reunion Island

The arid desert part of Madagascar called the Spiny Desert into the more temperate woodlands.

Size

The average length of 4-5 feet (1.21-1.5 m) and usually weigh less than 20 pounds (9 kg). The maximum recorded length is 7 feet (2.1 m). Females are larger than males.

Habitat

The Dumeril's ground Boa is a terrestrial snake that comes from the dry forests in the South West of Madagascar. It is a moderate sized Boa that reaches lengths of between 4 and 7 feet.

Housing

Dumeril's Boas require a large enclosure of at least 60" X 36" X 24". A suitably sized hide box and a large water bowl should be provided for drinking and bathing. Also a large hide with some damp moss in it should be added as this will aid shedding.

Substrate

Aspen, Beech chippings, Forest or Orchid bark.

Temperature/Humidity

Ambient daytime temperature 78 degrees F with a Hot spot of 90 degrees. Night time temperatures should range between 74 and 80 degrees F. Humidity should be kept at around 60%.
